Haguro Central Park Multi-purpose Sports Plaza

Inuyama City, Aichi Prefecture

In Aichi's Northwest region, Inuyama is situated in the Nobi Plain along the banks of the Kiso River. The western portion of Inuyama is the city's commercial, agricultural, and residential center, while the North and Eastern portions make up the more scenic areas.

In particular, the northern part just below the Kiso River has been deemed a Place of Scenic Beauty. Visitors can experience Ukai (cormorant fishing), a unique fishing tradition with a history stretching back over 1300 years.

Also situated along the Kiso River is Inuyama Castle, the oldest standing castle and national treasure of Japan and the temple Jakkoin, which is especially beautiful during autumn, when the maple leaves turn bright red.

To the east lies a landscape of rolling hills covered with lush vegetation, where the nationally protected Hitotsubatago, or Ornamental Fringe Tree, can be found. Another point of interest is Lake Iruka, Japan's second largest reservoir, which beautifully reflects the surrounding mountains.
